afternoon and asked for a preview of his talk, as well as his views on men's ministry:

"My talk will be 'Discovering God's Purpose,'" says D'Acchioli. "Once you recognize that you are uniquely made by God, the next question you want to ask is, 'Why?' That is, what is God's plan for my life, and how do I discover it? Proverbs 29 says, 'Where there is no vision, the people perish.' The flip-side to that is, Give a man a vision, and look out!"

messed up.

"For too long we have been the priest and the Levite, walking around and ignoring the broken man. The Samaritan stopped. Who was the real neighbor?

"I think men's ministry is a strategic ministry—a surgical ministry—focused on equipping men. When I read the Bible I see that it is man-heavy. A lot of responsibility is placed on men. We should follow that example."
